X-Ways Investigator is a specialised build of the powerful X-Ways Forensics tool, made specifically for investigators. It features a simplified user interface that cuts out a lot of the complex technical functions so investigators can better concentrate on the matter at hand. It is ideally suited to investigators in law enforcement, intelligence, or the private sector who are not forensic specialists, but have the case knowledge and skills to follow where the data leads them. Whether it is e-discovery or complex searching and analysis, X-Ways Investigator gives the right tools to the right people.

Once a forensic analyst has processed the case using X-Ways Forensics, investigators will use this tool to further refine and search the data. With their greater understanding of the case at hand, they are better positioned to search the data for relevant material and follow leads that may develop during their analysis. As a review platform, X-Ways Investigator integrates seamlessly into existing X-Ways Forensics workflows.

X-Ways Investigator is ideally suited to those who work with forensic analysts already using X-Ways Forensics and want to get to their case data quicker. Once processed, X-Ways Investigator can access any data containers or cases produced by the forensic team, so there is no waiting for data conversion or uploading into another review platform.

Using the same underlying systems as X-Ways Forensics, you can be assured of lightning fast searching and versatile filtering, combined with the extremely stable performance that sets X-Ways apart from other forensic tools.
